

A Quiet Storm brews in Philly!!!

By Kurt Wolfheimer

Greg Robinson's Power Productions is set to bring a boxing spectacular to the National Guard Armory in Philadelphia, PA on Friday night the 13th of January, featuring the return of the former NABF champion Farah "The Quiet Storm" Ennis (17-1, 11KO's) against the always dangerous Grover Young (5-4-1, 1KO). The co-feature of the evening is a highly competitive lightweight clash as Angel Ocasio (6-0,1KO) battles it out with Camden, New Jersey's Jason Sosa (4-1-1, 1KO).

Ennis is a hot Philly prospect who has become known for his pinpoint accuracy and explosive combinations which led him up the path to the NABF super middleweight title before his shocking upset at the hands of Alexander "The Great" Johnson. After the surprising loss Ennis took some time off and is now rejuvenated and ready for another run at a world title.

The comeback begins on Friday night at the National Guard Armory. Standing in his way is Grover Young, who sports a less than spectacular record of 5-4-1, 2KO. Sometimes records can be deceiving and this looks to be one of them. The last four opponents that have faced Young are a combined 30-0 at the time he stepped into the ring with him. Two of four defeats came by razor thin majority decision losses to those undefeated fighters, so Ennis will have to be on his "A" game in the eight round main event of the evening.

The co-feature will be a six round war featuring two up and coming lightweight prospects as Philly's Angel Ocasio (6-0, 1KO) squares off against Camden New Jersey's Jason Sosa (4-1-1, 1KO).

Ocasio has carved out a niche as one of Philly's most popular fighters with his serious boxing arsenal and counter punching abilities. His raucous fan base has grown due to his give and take style, which has led to most of his fights being selected the fight of the night or him being the fighter of the night. Under the MAK Boxing Management banner, Ocasio has quickly honed his skills as a professional, fighting various styles of fighters. Friday night will be by far the biggest test of his young career in Jason Sosa.

The Camden, New Jersey native, has faced and defeated some tough competition including the likes of Jose "Prime time" Ortiz, "Pretty Boy" Clinton Douglass, and Anthony Allen. Sosa will not back down and his willing to stand and trade style should make this a fight highly entertaining, which will surely leave the fans satisfied.

Also on the card is the homecoming of former two time top ranked US Amateur and rising Philly bantamweight sensation Miguel "No fear" Cartagena (3-0, 2KO's). The lightning quick North Philadelphian will face six fight Cuban veteran Yuniel Ramos in a six round contest. Cartagena at just 3-0 has tested his mettle been on the big stage, winning convincingly on the undercards of Gamboa-Solis and Gamboa-Ponce de Leon.

Another interesting lightweight contest is on the card as fellow Philadelphians, Tim Witherspoon Jr (6-1-1, 2KO's) and Tevin Farmer (3-2-1, 1KO) square off over six rounds for the vacant IBS National lightweight title.

The rest of the undercard is loaded with local and regional prospects in four round contests. Carteret, New Jersey heavyweight slugger John Lennox will duke it out with Baltimore, Maryland's Riley Brooks (1-2-1).

Atlantic City cruiserweight Jaywon Woods (8-1-1, 5KO's), the son of former heavyweight contender Darrol Wilson will look to shake off eighteen months of ring rust against Rayshawn Myers (4-11, 3KO's)

Highly talented Philly heavyweight prospect Joey Dawejko (5-0, 2KO's) has recently been added and will face Corey Winfield (4-8, 2KO's).

Newark, New Jersey's super middleweight John Thompson (3-0, 1KO) will battle it out with Kinston North Carolina's Aaron Williams (0-2).

Undefeated Virginian featherweight Jerren Cochran will face the always deadly opponent to be announced.

Philly super middleweight scrapper, Brian "Wildman" Donahue (1-1) is ready to step back into the ring for the first time in almost six years against Randy "The Rattler" Campbell (3-8, 2KO's).

Local light heavyweight Todd Unthankmay looks win his second as a pro when he faces Phillip Hannah (0-6).

Tickets are priced at $60 Ringside, $50 Floor and $40 General Admission.
